Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia

Vol. XXV. No. 2

CORNERSTONE RITES WITNESSED BY GUESTS, FACULTY, STUDENTS

While scattered groups of guests, faculty members and students observed, the cornerstone of the Jesse Ball du Pont Hall of the Fine Arts Center was laid under the auspices of the Fredericksburg Masonic Lodge No. 4, the Mother Lodge of George Washington, on September 29 at 2:30 P.M.

The Masons, led by two Stewarts with rods, filed to the building site from Chandler Circle, followed by the Mary Washington Band. After the exercises were commenced with the National Anthem, the Chaplain, Brother Carl G. Mayer, offered the Invocation. Dr. Combs then, in ceremonial procedure, requested the cornerstone be laid in accordance with the rites of the Masonic Order.

After the stone was cemented and lowered, it was measured with the appropriate tools (which had a moral as well as a useful interpretation), the lodge members consecrated the stone with the corn of nourishment, the wine of refreshment and the oil of joy and gladness. A hymn was sung after each of the applications.

Dr. Combs then presented a silver-plated and engraved trowel, one of the two used in the ceremony, to Mrs. du Pont. The trowel was a duplicate of the one which George Washington used to lay the cornerstone of the Nation's capital.

The Honorable Colgate Darden, Jr., gave the address citing the progress of Virginian women through a long period of neglected education. The new Fine Arts Center, Dr. Darden declared, "will result in an infinitely finer and richer Virginia."

The next speaker and first president of Mary Washington College, Mr. E. H. Russell, paid tribute to C. O'Connor Goolrich of Fredericksburg and J. D. Eggleston, Retired President of Hampden-Sydney College, who were with him responsible for the establishment of Mary Washington. Mr. Russell also told the audience that "the growth of this institution is beyond any conception I ever had."

Other guests introduced to the audience by Dr. Combs were: State Senator Robert O. Harris; W. Taylor Murphy, former state treasurer; State Comptroller Henry G. Gilmer; E. R. Combs, clerk of the State Senate; State Senator Ben T. Pitts of Fredericksburg; Francis B. Gouldman, who is to represent the city and Spotsylvania County in the House of Delegates, and Representative Thomas B. Stanley and Mrs. Alfred I. du Pont, for whom central building is named.

Among the contents of the cornerstone were issues of the Bullet, Bayonet, Epaulet and Catalogue, a schedule of classes and a Masonic pocket piece struck in 1932.

Earlier in the afternoon there was a luncheon in the Rose room of Seabrook Hall to which some 300 guests were invited. Mrs. du Pont, for whom the luncheon was held, was then presented with a corsage by Student Government.

Ushers for the Cornerstone rites were members of Recreation Association, Student Government, and Y. W. C. A.

MWC Senior and Junior To Act As Festival Princesses

During the coming week of October 8-13, Marty Taylor will be one of the Tobacco Festival Princesses. Marty, a second semester Junior from Augusta, Kentucky, was recommended by the governor of Kentucky to represent that state. Marty is well known around campus, being on "Y" Cabinet, in Glee Club, in Band, and in Mu Phi Epsilon. There will be twenty Princesses from Virginia and seven of the other tobacco states in the Festival. The Queen, to be chosen from among the Princesses, will receive a trip to New York with all expenses paid. The activities of the week for the Princesses include a grand parade on Friday in which the M.W.C. Band will participate, a football game between William and Mary and Wake Forest on Saturday, and a Queen's Ball on Saturday night. There will also be various style shows and luncheons for the Princesses throughout the week.

Jacqueline Payne, a Junior from Fluvanna County, was one of the Princesses at the Second Annual Apple Harvest Festival which was held in Charlottesville last week. Each of the surrounding counties of Charlottesville sponsored a Princess. On Thursday she attended a ball held in honor of the Princesses at Fry's Beach Club. On Friday she participated in the grand parade and she was a guest of honor at a banquet for the Princesses that night. Jackie is president of the Spanish Club here at M.W.C.

Free Movie Ticket Given Each Week

Something new in advertising has found its way to the Bullet. Besides the movie column which will contain write-ups of the current being shown downtown, the Bullet will print a subscribers name up side down somewhere in the paper. The lucky student will receive a free ticket to the movie theatre that week. Read your paper carefully, you may be the one to receive the ticket, which may be obtained from Mary Nelson Coleman, Westmoreland 311. The first name appears in this issue.

Another advertisement that will hold every student's interest is the Crown Jeweler's ad. This company is making a special offer to students, on presenting this ad, of a dollar discount on any watch repair or cleaning. Look for this ad in next week's issue of the Bullet.

Jean Byrd Is Voted Cutest Doll At Party

Jean Byrd Chosen Best Doll

Turner and Smith Win Next Places

Last Thursday evening Monroe Auditorium was the scene of great excitement as the Annual Kid Party got under way and Jean Page Byrd was chosen as the best doll.

Dream Setting

The setting for the contest was supposedly laid in a hospital where a little girl (Nancy Gant) dreamed of the toys which she would like to have. Her dreams came alive when all the "little sisters," dressed as kids, came across the stage. Sisley Davis played the part of the little girl's mother, and Lynne Gessford took the part of the nurse. The doctors called in to help the little girl with her decision in choosing the best dolls were Mr. Pitman, Dr. Kelly, and Dr. Frick. Ann Turner took 2nd place, and Barbara Smith 3rd place by their decision.

The Dance Band under the direction of Mr. Faulkner supplied music throughout the program. During the intermissions, Anne Ceglis and Shirley Sinnard sang, and the famous ukelele chorus gave some of their renditions. After the judging, there was a party in Monroe Gym for all who had participated in the contest.

Prizes Given

Jean Byrd received a MWC Bulldog as first prize; Ann Turner, a scrapbook in the college colors; and Barbara Smith, a box of MWC stationery.

Degree Program Announced In Physical Therapy

A Bachelor of Science degree in physical therapy is now being offered to Mary Washington students. This is the first year such a course has been offered here.

This program meets all degree requirements at Mary Washington College, including two years of foreign language. It provides for three years of liberal arts work preceding the specialized training which is to be taken at the Medical College of Virginia, Baruch Center of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation.

The degree of Bachelor of Science will be presented by Mary Washington College to the student upon the completion of the liberal arts and specialized training program. This program also meets the requirements of the American Registry of Physical Therapy Technicians.

Plans are now underway for the organization of a Professional Club at M.W.C. for those interested in physical therapy. This organization, however, will not be limited to physical therapy majors. At the present, plans have progressed to the extent of providing films on hospital techniques, of making tentative plans for trips to the Baruch Center and to the Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, and various discussion groups involving different subjects.

The profession of physical therapy has grown as a result of the rehabilitation problems following the war and the numerous incidents of accidental injury. The demands for physical therapists far exceeds the supply, and Miss Anna Scott Hoyer, sponsor of the Professional Club, stated that the field is one with a wide range of opportunities. "Hospital work, commissioned officers of the armed forces, public health service, and rehabilitation centers are only a few of the main opportunities open to the physical therapy majors."

Maid of Cotton Contest Scheduled For January

The National Cotton Council has announced the opening of the 1952 Maid of Cotton contest. The search to find the winner covers the 18th states of the cotton-producing region and out of the thirteen Maids of Cotton to date, twelve have been college students or recent graduates at the time of their selection.

The contest is open to girls between the ages of 19 to 25, who were born in a cotton state and have never been married. To be eligible, girls must be at least 5 feet 5 inches tall. Contestants will be judged on the basis of beauty, personality, and background. A preliminary judging committee will select 20 finalists to come to Memphis, Tennessee, January 2 and 3 for personal interviews and a public appearance. The 1952 Maid of Cotton will be announced at Ellis Auditorium in Memphis on January 3.

Immediately after the contest, the winner will leave for New York City. There she will undergo a month's preparatory training in modeling, radio, and television, and will be fitted for an all-cotton wardrobe.

The Maid will begin a six-month tour in February. The 1951 itinerant has not been announced yet, but it is expected to follow closely the path of previous Maids. Jeanine Holland, the 1951 winner, visited 45 cities in 10 counties. Her 64,000-mile journey took her across the United States and to France, Cuba, Panama, Argentina, Brazil, Uruguay, Chile, Colombia, and Peru.

Application forms are available from the National Cotton Council, P. O. Box 18, Memphis, Tennessee. When entry forms are completed and returned to contest headquarters, they must be accompanied by a head and shoulders photograph and a full-length one. Sponsors of the Maid of Cotton include the National Cotton Council, the Memphis Cotton Carnival, and the Cotton Exchanges of Memphis, New York, and New Orleans.

Radio Free Europe Heard In Chapel

On Friday, September 28, Assembly was devoted to a Crusade for Freedom program. The entire student body, assembled on the drill field, heard recordings from Radio Free Europe by way of a public address system. As an example of what a great step this Freedom Campaign is, the students heard a recording of a recent program to the citizens of Lednice Revue, in Czechoslovakia, giving the name and description of the Communist agent directly responsible for the murder of their parish priest. There was also a recording of the World Freedom Bell, erected in Berlin as a permanent symbol of free men's determination to resist aggression.

Two balloons, containing leaflets similar to those flown over the area within the Iron curtain in Operation Winds of Freedom, were set aloft after the broadcast.

Radio Free Europe first began broadcasting July 4, 1950, from a small short-wave transmitter in the Frankfurt area of Western Germany. On its programs Czech exiles speak to Czechs, Poles speak to Poles, Hungarians speak to Hungarians, etc. The broadcasts are entirely in terms of the interests of the imprisoned peoples, designed to keep alive their hope of freedom, and encourage resistance to Communism.

Freshman Dance Huge Success

Miss Minnie Rainey was crowned queen of "The Club '55", at the freshman dance, held last Saturday night, Oct. 6, at 8:45 in Monroe Gym. The dance was sponsored by the Recreation Association and was headed by Virginia Thompson.

Jack Moss, a freshman from VPI, was named "Top Hat Man" of the occasion.

Boys from the University of Virginia, V. M. I., George Washington, Hampden-Sydney, Randolph Macon, and the Marine Base at Quantico attended. Approximately 900 were present.

The gym was lavishly decorated in accordance with the night club theme of the dance, "Club '55", in honor of the Class of 1955.

Muscle for the dance was provided by the "Silvertones" from Washington, D. C. During the intermission, entertainment was supplied by the dancing of Betsy Martin, singing of Butch Farmer and guitar playing by Marine visitors.

After refreshments of punch and cake were served, dancing was resumed until 12:00.

Be a "Belonger"

Many a student goes through her college years with little regard for the extra-curricular life of her school, either because she thinks that she will immediately fall all her courses if she budgets out of her room for a club meeting, or because she remarks, "I simply don't have time for anything else" as she deals another hand of bridge. At the opposite end of the scale is the little eager beaver who joins every organization on campus in September and by November has ceased to attend any meetings. Neither girl is doing herself or her school any good at all.

There are approximately 55 organizations and clubs on our M.W.C. campus, answering every student need—dramatic, recreational, religious, scholastic, scientific, service, and social. Somewhere in that number is a group, or groups, which will give the "stay-in-the-roomer" the social contacts and the satisfaction that will make her college life complete. The more one does, up to a point, the more one has time to do. But simply because there are 55 clubs on campus is no reason to try to get into all 55! The "joiner" must learn to say "No," to herself as well as to others.

This week, and last, each of us has had an excellent chance to serve our school and to prove ourselves, not a "stay-in-the-roomer" or a "joiner," but a "belonger" to life at M.W.C. Y.W.C.A. and Recreation Association, two of the most important organizations on the Hill, have been signing members for their various committees. Although every student is a member of these organizations, she is not an active member unless she shows her interest by joining one of the committees, and by working on it. It is from these interested committee members that "Y" and R.A. Council members are largely chosen. Decide now to help yourself and your school, in "Y's" social service and religious functions, and in R.A.'s recreational and social work. And for the rest of this year and for the years to come at M.W.C., balance the scale between the "stay-in-the-roomer" and the "joiner"—prove yourself a "belonger" to life on the Hill.

Dedicated to The Freshmen

These "ifs" came from M.W.C. upperclassmen, and are dedicated to the freshmen with high hopes that this year will be a more successful one for having read them. (Upperclassmen might profit from a thorough reading also.)

IF I WERE A FRESHMAN AGAIN

"I would budget my time to include both studies and extra-curricula activities."

"I would get more sleep—at least eight hours."

"I wouldn't approach the faculty with flippancy and disrespect."

"I would try to budget my allowance so that by the second day, I wouldn't be broke."

"I would cut down on the 'cokes and nabs' diet, and eat meals regularly."

"I certainly wouldn't believe all the gossip on the campus concerning students or faculty."

"I wouldn't spend all my money on new clothes and then write home for more."

"I wouldn't be so critical of the food. I'd develop more interesting table talk."

"I wouldn't call home (reverse charges) everytime I got a deficiency."

"I would attend more of the social functions—teas, dances, and Lyceums."

"I would make friends with my profs and not hesitate to ask them questions."

"I wouldn't let anyone make me ashamed of working part-time, because I know it will be a future asset."

"I wouldn't cut my classes more than I should."

"I would realize that everyone on the campus wasn't as thrilled as I was that I had come to college."

"I would tell myself in firm tones that college wasn't a house-party."

"I would worry less about how I was going to get things done and go on and do them."

"I would be more considerate of roommates when I had 8:30's and they didn't."

"I wouldn't bring my entire wardrobe to school to 'wow' them."

"I wouldn't worry so much about exams, I'd keep up with daily work."

"I wouldn't borrow clothes."

"I wouldn't leave all my hand laundry 'til Saturday."

"I would be content to stay at school on week-ends, instead of always trying to think of some place to go."

"I would balance the see-saw between 'joiner' and 'stay-in-the-roomer.'"

"I would be sure to keep a good 'rep' and be my true self."

"I would write cheerful letters home, instead of weebegone ones that were full of all my little heartaches and troubles."

"I would subscribe to my college paper and support all other regular campus activities."

"I would be more keenly aware of the beauty of our campus."

"I would fix my room up much cuter than I did. I'd have gay curtains and spreads and I'd have a place to pin souvenirs."

"I would read that book on bridge that someone loaned me."

KOLLUM

As we left Seabeck after Sunday dinner we felt that we had forgotten something. Our books? Our "uncut fruit"? No! It was our bag lunches. Then it occurred to us that bag lunches are a thing of the past at M. W. C. All afternoon we sat in our rooms and drooled as we thought of other Sunday afternoons—afternoons brightened by the advent of dried lunch meat sandwiches. Finally, the hands of the clock showed that it was five o'clock and, with great expectations, we charged Seabeck for our buffet supper. By this time our stomachs were reduced to peanut-size. But that was not the worst of it, for when we emerged from the dining hall an hour and a half later, our bodies were peanut-sized—minus the shell.

It happened this way: Entering Seabeck we had found not the quiet Dome Room we had expected, but a room filled with ravenous, desperate people, some of whom had been standing in line since lunch. In our amazement at finding so many people already there, we stood dead in our tracks for a moment. It was only a moment, too, for shortly we were trampled underfoot by the North line, headed for the South unit and the South line headed for the North unit. How were we to know that the spot we had chosen was the convergence point for the two lines?

We returned to our rooms, well-fed, but a bit the worse for wear. After bandaging our battle wounds in unison we cried out, "Now if I were running the dining hall—" After serious thought, we came to the conclusion that if service tables were set up in all four wings of Seabeck much of the confusion in the Dome Room would be eliminated. Our plan calls for each student being served in her usual dining room. However, she need not eat at her regular table or even in her regular dining hall. The idea is to cut down the size of the lines, thereby speeding up the meal. This would benefit not only the students, but the waitresses and the kitchen staff as well. As it is, it takes much more time to be served and eat than it does at the regular meals.

Never let it be said that we're wishing for a return of the bag lunch era. As far as we're concerned the buffet supper is one of the greatest improvements on the Hill this year, not to mention the food in general.

Bayonet Bothers

A stranger visiting our campus a few weeks ago might have thought the college offered a course in military tactics. That would be the case if she had overheard a bewildered freshman discussing her "Bayonet" test. The uninformed stranger would soon learn, however, that the beanie-clad girl had merely been commenting on her test concerning the rules and regulations of Mary Washington. This typical freshman was one of many who had taken the initial exam. She had washed her hair, polished her nails, and read her history when the student counselor had tried to explain the different phases of college life. Despite this, she was confident of her knowledge.

With beanie pushed back, sleeves rolled up, and pencil cocked, she waited for the papers to be distributed. She breathed a sigh of despair after she had hastily glanced over the questions. Oh, the first requirement was to write the words of the two school songs. When her pencil had reluctantly written the first few phrases, she realized that she had learned the words to the tune of the piano. Much to the disgust of her room mate, this freshman wrote the remainder of the song with her own humming accompaniment.

Now for the questions, she thought, as she tackled the blanks in the sentence structures. Somehow, several answers fitted into the same space. The time limits escaped her memory. Was it five

Honor... For You

For a five letter word—HONOR—contains a world of meaning. For a bridge player—2½ honor count has great significance; to a golfer, honor is the privilege of playing first from the tee. But the honor I am talking about does not require specialized training in a card game or sport. Honor and our honor system are truly synonymous with our code of living. They are our guide to happiness and contentment with ourselves and others. They emphasize the value of the democratic way of life. Irregardless of the degree of education we have achieved, we can not live happily on our society unless we can live happily with other people. This is our code of living not only while we are here on the Mary Washington campus—in classes, sports events, and social gatherings—but in our homes and in any field of work we can plan to enter after college. The rules we have learned concerning dating privileges and nights-in-town are effective only while we are attending this college, whereas honor should and will be by our sides all during life. We are the future leaders, career women, and mothers, and we must strive toward high goals especially in this critical period of world affairs.

This month you will be given an Honor Pledge card stating that you "resolve to uphold the honor of the college by refraining from giving or receiving academic material in a manner not authorized by the instructor; from the illegal appropriation of the property of others; and from the deliberate falsification of facts." Read carefully the pledge so that you will fully understand the system and what is expected of you as a student. These cards will be signed and kept in the Honor Council files.

In the succeeding issues of the Bullet, there will be articles of each phase of our honor system—lying, stealing, cheating, and breaking one's word of honor. This is our honor system—let us familiarize ourselves with it.

The honor system is not infallible nor is its Honor Council perfect, but strength and perfection are ideals always to be strived for in our society. Let us all—freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors—aim to maintain these high ideals.

or nine o'clock before a date could call on campus? "Einstein's own father couldn't pass this test on the first try," was her consoling thought.

After the third Bayonet test, she made one determined vow. She would carry the precious book where ever she ventured in order to make her stay at Mary Washington a long one. She decided that whenever her date suggested a dinner date, a movie in town, or a ride to Richmond, she would certainly consult the "Bayonet." It knew all the answers!

Light Up The Sky To Be MW's First

The stage is set for the 1951-52 season of the Mary Washington College Theatre. This group, backed by the large and enthusiastic membership of Players, promises a very successful and enjoyable year.

On November 9 the curtain will rise on LIGHT UP THE SKY, the hilarious comedy by Moss Hart that gives us a glimpse of the private lives of show people. Miss Martha Newell, director, says that this show aspires to be one of the funniest ever staged at Mary Washington College.

This play, however, is only the beginning. There are two more wonderful shows on the way. CRY HAVOC will be presented early next year, and will be followed, in the spring, by THE IMPORTANCE OF BEING EARNEST.

You cannot afford to miss these three productions; so, mark them down now and prepare for Mary Washington College Theatre's biggest season yet.

The officers of the Mary Washington Players are as follows: president, Bettanne Norris; vice-president, Barbara Miller; secretary, Ann Loyd; treasurer, Barbara Hamilton; publicity, Jackie Reese.

The officers of the College Theatre Staff for the coming year are as follows: business manager, Joan Watson; lighting technician, Deligh Renn; wardrobe mistress, Julia Starkey; scene technician, Althea Scholl; make-up, Dot Maynard; publicity chairman, Jackie Reese; property chairman, to be elected; Alpha Psi Omega representative, Mildred Jones.

The sponsors of both Mary Washington Players and the College Theatre Staff are Miss Martha Newell and Mr. Mark Sumner.

Widespread Area Represented At MWC

Again this year, girls from far flung parts of the United States and even the world are gathered at Mary Washington College for the new fall term. The enrollment, which approximates last year's, is comprised of girls from thirty-three states, the District of Columbia, and seven foreign countries.

In the 51-52 session, fifteen students are daughters of retired Army or Navy men, and another fifty girls are children of high ranking officers now in the Armed Services. Some of these girls have had the opportunity to live and study in a number of the countries in which their fathers have been stationed. These lands include Japan, the Philippines, Hawaii, Belgium, Brazil, Panama, the Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico, Peru, Guam, China, Turkey, Germany, France, Holland, England, Switzerland, Spain, Portugal, and Italy.

A cosmopolitan air is added also by students from Cuba, Puerto Rico, Venezuela, Canal Zone, Curacao (B.W.I.), the Philippines, and Japan.

To round out the number of students, the majority of whom are Virginians, there are a few veterans, although their enrollment has dropped greatly since last year.

CLUB ACTIVITIES

SCIENCE FOUNDATION

All science majors please plan to join the Matthew Fontaine Maury Science Foundation between October 8th and 12th. All interested should plan to sign up outside the College Shop, or in 201 or 206 Ball.

The Science Club is open to all sophomores, juniors, and seniors who are planning to major in the fields of biology, chemistry, mathematics, pre-nursing, or psychology and who have a "C" average.

The officers of the club are: Bunny Rutherford, president; Nancy Parker, vice-president; Kay Birmingham, corresponding secretary; Joyce Reynolds, secretary; Nancy Gass, treasurer; and Jimmie Rae Bowen, reporter. The Science Club this year has started a system of rotation of sponsors of the different science departments. This year the sponsor is Dr. Herbert Cover of the Chemistry Department.

ALPHA PSI OMEGA

Alpha Psi Omega, the Dramatic Fraternity, on September 25th and September 26th began its sponsorship of bus trips to play with great plays success. The play was "Mister Roberts" starring Tod Andrews and the theatre was the WRVA Theatre in Richmond. The college bus took a bus-load of students and faculty to the play on Monday, Sept. 24, and on Tuesday, Sept. 25, the college bus was joined by a town bus. Alpha Psi is planning to sponsor several trips to Richmond and also to Washington throughout the year.

L. S. A. GOES SIGHTSEEING

On Sunday, September 30, the Lutheran Students Association took a trip to Wakefield, on the Potomac River, which is the birthplace of George Washington, our first president. Among the places seen around Wakefield were the Memorial Mansion, the George Washington Birthplace Monument, and the family burial ground of the Washingtons. After the tour the group held their regular meeting on the lawn viewing Pope's Creek behind the Memorial Mansion. The group was driven to Wakefield by members of the Lutheran Church.

INTER-CLUB COUNCIL

The Inter-Club Council will sponsor the first informal dance of the year on October 13. The dance will be open to the entire student body. Inter-Club is also in charge of designating the clubs to sponsor the coming informals.

ALPHA PHI SIGMA

Alpha Phi Sigma, the national honorary fraternity here at M. W. C., is having its first meeting of the year on October 10. June Kucher, the president, is going to discuss the tentative plans for the year which were formulated at an officers' and sponsors' luncheon on September 26. All members are urged to attend.

ALPHA PSI OMEGA

The members of Alpha Psi Omega were entertained at a party given by Mr. Walther at the Oak Hill Stables on Thursday, October 4th. At 6:00 P. M. Mr. Walther drove into Chandler Circle in the familiar station wagon and the members of the club piled in and rode out to the stables for a dinner party.

BAND

The Mary Washington Band held its tryouts for majorette and color guard, Tuesday, September 25. Judges for the occasion were the Assistant Band Director and the Drum Major of the United States Marine Band at Quantico; the Band Director of the Fredericksburg High School Band; Mr. R. W. Faulkner, Director; Sarah Huston, Band Manager; and Sarah Jane Cross, Senior representative of the M. W. C. band.

Maryanne Heatwole, a senior from Weyers Cave, Virginia, was chosen Drum Major. Phyllis Jordan, a freshman from Thomasville, Georgia was chosen as a twirler. Twirlers remaining from last year are: Doris Lindsey, a junior from Goby, Virginia; Dawn Van Buskirk, a sophomore from Chambersburg, Pennsylvania; Mary Jo Ann O'Mara, a sophomore from Milburn, New Jersey.

The Band has received many offers for appearances. Among them are the Tobacco Festival, October 12; the Oyster Bowl Game, October 20; the Dog Mart, October 13, and the University of Virginia versus Citadel game on November 3.

On October 5 the Band had a get-to-know-each-other picnic at Mr. and Mrs. Faulkner's new home.

B S U I N G S

Things are really humming over at ye olde Student Center, and if you haven't been over, why don't you drop in? Make it "your home away from home." Those few minutes between dinner and study hour can really mean a lot if you'll come by for inspirations, which are held Monday through Friday at the Center. The time is from 6:45 to 7:00 P. M.

By the way, it isn't too early to sign up for the Lynchburg Convention which begins October 19 and lasts until the 21. It's a state affair and you'll meet lots of interesting people, plus enjoy a delightful and inspiring program.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

Le Cercle Francais, the French club, is open to all students interested in French and in furthering their knowledge of it. The meetings are held alternately once a month, the second Tuesday at 4:00 and the second Thursday at 7:00. The officers of the club are the president, Joanne Stevens; vice president, Charlotte Adams; secretary,

Faculty Conducts Annual Picnic

The annual picnic of the Mary Washington faculty was held last Saturday afternoon at 4:00 on the picnic grounds of Framar. New members of the faculty were guests at the affair.

Mrs. Carroll H. Quenzel, president of the Faculty Wives Organization was in charge of arrangements in cooperation with Mrs. Mildred M. Bolling and Dr. E. Boyd Graves.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 22...THE WOODPECKER

Woodrow almost bit off more than he could chew when he tackled the cigarette tests! But he pecked away 'til he smoked out the truth: Such an important item as mildness can't be tossed off in a fleeting second! A "swift sniff" or a "perfunctory puff" proves practically nothing! He, like millions of smokers, found one test that doesn't leave you up a tree.

It's the sensible test... the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke—on a day-after-day basis. No snap judgments! Once you've enjoyed Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

"The Mystery of the Missing Mouse," or "Who Copped the Cap?"

(Synopsis of preceding chapter: I, Shirley Locke Holmes, found myself asked to locate a missing freshman by her cigarette-smoking roommate. To further complicate the matter, a toy devil lay on the floor with a nailfile through its heart.)

Chapter II

I stared at the devil, horrified. "It's a Goat plot," I murmured, and turning to the freshman who was lighting a Chesterfield, I said, "Let's have the whole story. What is your name and who was-er-is your roommate?"

"My name is Minnie Brands. I had never met my roommate until I came here. She is Elmira C. Levenworth."

"Not Oscar C. Levenworth's daughter," I cried aghast.

"Yes, the Cheese King's only child," replied Minnie, lighting a Lucky Strike from the Chesterfield. "Will you have a cigarette?" She motioned to the stack of cigarette cartons that towered over the bureau.

"No, thanks. I roll my own." I pulled out my bag of Bull Durham and proceeded to make a very sloppy job of it. At last, after securing the ends with rubber bands, I succeeded in lighting it. The room was filled with the pleasing odor of burning rubber. Being of a generous nature, Minnie opened the door, both windows and the transom so others might share it.

"Well, what shall we do?" Minnie was opening a pack of Pall Malls.

"What shall we do?" I was galvanized into action. "We'll report it to Miss Stevenson, Mrs. Wade, Mrs. Russell, Gwen Amory and

Dear Mom . . .

Dear Mom,

Your package got here this afternoon—thanks loads, but maybe next time you had better find some thing stronger to wrap the stuff in—the string came off that doughnut box and I left a trail of crumbs all the way from the post-office to the dorm. Bill was very nice about the accident, but you can't be too careful about how you treat the mailman. Of course all the food is gone by now and so could you send some more next week? Also, they've raised the price of one of my books from $2.50 to $5.95 and so I need some more money already.

I wish you could have been here for the Kid Party Thursday night—you would have thought that half of MW had entered second childhood if you had seen all the girls running around in short dresses and pigtails. But there was really a quick change to grown-up sophistication on Saturday night, when they vied for the interest of 900 eligible young men invited here for the annual Freshman dance.

There was quite a bit of excitement around here last night—we were in the midst of an exciting bridge and ukelele session in my room when the coffee-pot, which had been perking along peacefully a few minutes before, suddenly exploded, or something—nobody was hurt, thank goodness, but as we were frantically mopping up coffee from the walls, floor, and furniture with one of my roommate's prized pink sheets (Suzy was over at the Mendel Museum for some reason), I walked the house mother. Quickly I explained that we were merely doing our home work for modern dance class and were working on an original dance called "Spread the wet sheet over the ukelele, Mother," a very modern and original effort.

Speaking of homework, I'm afraid I'm gonna have to break down and do some—

Love,

Dotter

Shirley King. But not a word to Joan Britten."

"Why not?"
"You don't want Betty Wise East taking pictures of you, do you?" I got up. "Well, off to my physical. I'll call out the Cavalry if necessary. But we'll find Elmira Levenworth."

Adjusting my Hopalong Cassidy badge (ten Wheatie tops), I strode out into the hall, where for all I knew, danger lurked.

CALENDAR

Oct. 9—12:30 P. M.—Chapel Program with Shirley Sinnard singing and Connie Bennett at the piano.

Oct. 10—No Convocation.

Oct. 11—7:30 P. M.—Convocation. Speaker: Karl Tunberg, President of Screen Writers Guild, Hollywood, Cal.

Oct. 13—8:00 P. M.—Movie "Gentlemen's Agreement" in G. W.

Oct. 13—8:30 P. M.—Informal dance sponsored by Inter-Club Council in Monroe gym.

Platter-Spinning Patter
"Hanging Around with You," sung by Mindy Carson. One of the newest ones to come out.

"Down Younder" is ideal for the Dixie jazz fans who love a good jitterbugging piece. One good recording is by Champ Butler.

"Don't Fan the Flame." Mel Torme and Peggy Lee.

"Twenty-three Scarlets and Me" sung by Merve Griffin. Very new and cute as can be.

FLASH!

Ray Anthony voted top band in the 1951 billboard disc Jockey poll! . . . Les Paul and Mary Ford's "How High the Moon" top popular record . . . Tennessee Ernie's "Shotgun Boogie" top western and folk record . . . Mel Blanc's "I Tawt I taw a Puddy Tat" top kiddie record. This poll is for Sept. 15, 1951.

"Bella Bella" sung by Patrice Munsel. This her first popular recording and as you know she is also one of the most popular Metropolitan Opera Stars.

"Belle, Belle, My Liberty Belle" sung by Guy Mitchell and chorus. Guy Mitchell is great on this one.

"And so to Sleep Again" sung by Pattie Page is a "dreamy" record.

Tractive

The average tractive effort of locomotives now being installed in service is approximately 65 percent greater than it was 30 years ago.

Sophomore Class Names Officers

Sophomore Class officers and cheer leaders were elected last Wednesday night, October 3 at a class meeting.

Dorothy Spencer from Norfolk was voted secretary; and Tola Drogaris from Blackstone was made treasurer. Ann Levey from Richmond and Nell Amos from Tampa, Florida, had been elected as president and vice-president, respectively, last May.

The cheer leaders are Helen Peck, Anne Holmes, Joan Kaitner, Marlene Ashby, Ozzie Chaffee, and Nancy Stockton.

Whistler, the painter, used a butterfly as his signature.

IT'S EASIER THAN EVER!
Students! Make money writing Lucky Strike jingles!
MORE FUN, TOO!

No tricks! No gimmicks! Takes no time—no special talent! You can make $25.

Just write a simple four-line jingle based on the fact that

LUCKIES TASTE BETTER THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE!

(or other qualities of Luckies such as those listed below.)

Write a Lucky Strike jingle, like those you see on this page, based on the fact that Luckies taste better than any other cigarette, or other qualities of Luckies such as those listed below. If your jingle is selected for possible use in Lucky Strike advertising, we will pay you $25 for the right to use it and your name in our advertising. Lucky Strike jingles will soon be running in your paper. Start today—send in as many jingles as you like. Be the first to write a jingle in your school!

Just made a great discovery
Which I announce with haste:
Folks go for Lucky Strike because
They like that better taste!

Before each class—and after too
I do just what I like—
Relax—enjoy the better taste
Of good ol' Lucky Strike!

READ THESE SIMPLE INSTRUCTIONS

1. Write your Lucky Strike four-line jingle on a plain piece of paper or postcard and send it to Happy-Go-Lucky, P. O. Box 67, New York 46, N. Y. Be sure that your name, address, college and class are included—and that they are legible.
2. Base your jingle on the fact that Luckies taste better than any other cigarette—or on any of the alternate themes below.
3. Every student of any college, university or post-graduate school may submit jingles.

IMPORTANT:

To make money writing jingles, it is not essential to base your jingle on "Luckies taste better than any other cigarette." You may base a jingle on other outstanding qualities of Luckies such as the following:

L.S./M.F.T.
Lucky Strike Means Fine Tobacco
Be Happy—Go Lucky!
So round, so firm, so fully packed
So free and easy on the draw
Buy Luckies by the carton
Luckies give you deep-down smoking enjoyment
Luckies are the world's best-made cigarette.

COPR., THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

L.S./M.F.T.-Lucky Strike Means Fine Tobacco

It surely is a pleasure to welcome all of the new old "jocks." The new girls are a wonderful group by all reports. We would like to have you come out to the stables at other times than during class time, so that every one can get acquainted. We have a lot of fun and we get work done too. Usually refreshments and a good "chit-chat" are added on the side. Dottie Reisig is still being liked by a supposedly easy treasure hunt that she planned; no doubt a mud turtle would have thought it quite a simple hunt. Of course underground clues are really more in a turtle's line than ours.

Hoof Prints Club sponsored a "get acquainted" breakfast for all riders, especially the Freshmen. Before the breakfast Diane Lee and Marcia Craddock gave an amusing skit portraying High Pockets and Gazelle discussing the antics of those characters called riders. High Pockets even went so far as to say that the Cavalry girls eat police cookies—"Cop cakes" in other words.

In case anyone is still wondering about all the siren screaming and bugle blowing that occurred after Chapel one Tuesday it was one of the Cavalry's calls to duty. The Cavalry is a service organization open to riders and non-riders alike. Anyone who is interested may still become a member by seeing Shirley Sinnard in Westmoreland 106.

Warning! The 6:30 o'clock morning ghosts will soon be seen rushing around the campus. There is no need for alarm however. They are really just girls going out to prepare for the Annual Fall Horse Show which is scheduled for October 21. It promises to be an exciting show so don't forget to save that date!

"Inside Out"

Book matches in the 1890's had the striking surface on the inside cover. This proved dangerous so the abrasive was placed on the outside and the phrase "Close Cover Before Striking" became famous.

R. A. Sports Spots

The Concert Dance Club is now working on the new works for the year, including "Our Town" and "Songs of the Veld." These will be given, with other dances from the repertoire, at chapel November 13, when they give a program for the Fredericksburg alumni.

R. A. would like to thank Carol Smith for her work on the clock used at the Peg Rally last week, and also the M. W. C. Band, the team cheerleaders, and Anne Lloyd, for helping to make the rally a success. May the spirit shown at the rally typify the whole year, and may they be best team win!

Everyone interested in hockey, please come to practice every Monday at 4, and each Tuesday and Thursday at 3:30 to try out for the team. There will be many interesting games and tournaments this year, so come on out and have fun with the team.

The Junior Dance Club is now open for membership. No previous training is necessary; just be interested. The club meets every Monday and Wednesday from 5 to 8. Everyone is welcome to join. Concert Dance Club members are selected from the Junior Dance Club.

Lists for the tennis tournaments to be held this fall are now in Monroe basement. There will be two tournaments: one for freshmen and one for upperclassmen. Have fun and show your court ability, too. More entrants are needed; so sign up now!

The Splash Party sponsored by Terrapin was a huge success, from the first jump to the parting lollipops. The freshmen were introduced to the pool, and given some of the rules which govern behavior in the pool.

Tryouts for Terrapin are now being held. If you haven't already tried out, go to the pool October 10 at 4 P. M. or October 11, at 5 P. M.

Sign-up day for R. A. will be held this Wednesday, all day, outside the C Shoppe. Everyone is a member of R. A., but become an active member by joining a committee of your favorite part, from social to sports. Each committee is headed by a member of R. A. Council, and a list of all these committees and their chairmen can be found in the R. A. booklet. If you should miss signing up on Wednesday, come to Ball 314 within two days, and still become a member of a committee.

The Freshman Dance Saturday night was a big success. Everyone

Members of Cavalry Direct Traffic

Members of the Mary Washington College Cavalry started last Wednesday directing traffic for school children at these street intersections surrounding James Monroe School.

The work of the Cavalry will release two police officers for other duties and will give traffic control at crossings which have not been covered previously.

They will be at the crossings from 8 to 9 A. M. and 2 to 3 P. M. on school days. They have had special training in traffic control.

Match Span

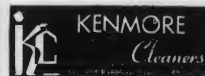

The average kitchen match began its life 140 years ago as a white pine in the Northwest. When felled it sometimes travels over 2,000 miles to plants for cutting, dipping, and drying.

seemed to have had a good time and to have met lots of new people. Thanks to Ginny Thomason, who took charge of the arrangements and was mainly responsible for its success.

Be sure and save the date of October 27 for the big Korny Korny Carnival which R. A. will sponsor. It's to be held in the gym, and there promises to be fun for everybody, with booths, shows, music and food!

CAMPUS CANDIDS

Among the newest engagements around the campus are those of Nancy Gough to Johnny Edmunds of R. P. I.; Betty Henley to Paul Lester, a Navy man from Kansas City; Betty Jefferson to Pop Biadell; Polly Sacks to Ken Ohman. Others are June Christian, Becky Spitzer, Joan Britton, and Katherine Orum. Among those lucky girls that are pinned are Anne O'Dette; Barbara Fowler, a miniature (Annapolis '51); Trudy MacInnis, a miniature (Class of '54) Annapolis; Sari Glasser to David Orlander; Joy Rhodes to John Mallonee, a senior at the University of Maryland; Anne Williams to Johnny Pressley.

The Misses Ciel Palladino and Lillah Hagburg entertained in their room in Madison Hall, Sunday, September 30 with a bridge party. The guests, attired in hats and jeans, were as follows: Ruth Williams, Claire Sims, Jackie Bobbin, Anne Hart, Jane Self, Mary Mapp Edmonds, Mary Alice Ward, Debra Smith, Jean Wolfe, Judy Curtin, Nancy Carol Cooper, and Joan Foley. The gala afternoon was climaxed with refreshments and the awarding of prizes.

Susan Jones returned late one day wearing two casts—result of a recent fall from a horse???

Claire Sindlinger return to the campus to don a cap and gown after a year at George Washington University.

$64 question—Where is Bobbie Burgess going the week-end of the 29th?

Ann Orweiler is looking forward to the arrival of the U. S. S. Columbus in Norfolk the 6th of October. An ensign? Yes!

Mimi Bruce was surprised by a visit from Lieutenant Tisdale from Germany!!

Corley Gibson saw Ernie this past week-end.

Mary Saunders is so excited. Mat Turner has just left Korea—it won't be long before he'll be back in the States!!

Barbara Burke and Betty Billingsley had dates for the University of Virginia-George Washington game. Lucky girls!

Barbie Haralson is headed for New York to visit her one and only—Rle Zook—never more good-looking!

Joyce Arlock loves those 6'3" Texans! (Don't we all!)

Audrey Merritt is concentrating on Buzzy Flynn these days—a handsome Quantico marine.

Bobby Mench is haunting the post office these days for a letter from Korea.

Sonny Archer is receiving mail from a handsome West Pointer—Bob.

Reen Morris wants every one to know that Shelf is sailing (yep Navy!) back from Cuba.

Anne Levey reports that Kenneth is improving with age. For a more detailed report, you'd better see Anne.

Marian Hall has a new boy friend named Elmer Jones, whom she is sharing with another Cal-fornian—a freshman named Peggy.

The occupants of Room 216 in Westmoreland have been making it a point not to miss breakfast these days. Eh, Shirley?

Dottie Roane went to the Newport News-Danville football game with Gene Seward the week-end of September 30.

Joan Tyson and Bill Marshburn attended the State Fair in Richmond the week-end of September 30.

Adrian Roper attended a concert in Richmond and the football game between the University of Virginia-George Washington University with Bert Nadiman.

Joyce Stallard was looking forward to the Freshman Dance this past week-end. A very good friend, Arthur Bruce, attended the dance with her.

Lynn Baker, Sally Fuelhart, and dates from Pennsylvania are going to Washington, D. C., the week-end of October 12 and 13.

Felicia Sipolski attended the University of Virginia-George Washington football game the week-end of September 30.

Brett Brusell went to Annapolis for the 3rd Battalion Dance the week-end of September 30.

Ann Denty, Dottie Booth, and their dates are planning to attend the Navy-Princeton game in the near future.

Mary Estelle Taylor attended the University of Virginia-George Washington game with George McMath.

Shirley King and Mary Latham attended the V. M. I.-Richmond game at Richmond the week-end of September 29th. They will also attend the V. M. I.-William and Mary game at Williamsburg the week-end of October 6th.

Mary Estel Taylor and Barbara Nordstrom were in Richmond this past week-end to see some friends at R. P. I. Male or female? That is the question.

New Dietitian

Seconds on salads? Well, of course seconds on desserts, but seconds on salads? Mr. Pal Robinson, the new Food Director at Mary Washington, finds himself amazed to discover that feeding a woman's college is quite different from being a chef for the Commissioned Officers at Quantico Marine Base.

Flabbergasted though he be, Mr. Robinson is here and aims to please by "trying to find out what the girls like." Already he has inaugurated the new buffet suppers on Sunday nights, and the new bakery equipment is being put to use.

Mr. Robinson, a native of Orlando, Florida, was graduated from Carrollton A. and M. before entering the Marine Corps in 1945, he was associated with Rollins College in Winter Park, Florida, where he operated a combination Restaurant-Delicatessen-College Inn. He is married, and the father of a little girl five years old, and a son 1½ years old.

'PRO' and 'Bullet' Want Campus News

Mary Washington College has a Public Relations Office which is directed by Reynold H. Brooks. Between September 1950 and September 1951, over 4800 news items and stories were sent out from the PRO.

The duty of this office is to let the public know what takes place on the campus, what the curricula changes are, what the students are doing, saying, thinking; what the faculty is doing, what honors have come to them and administration plans. The hometown newspapers want information about the college and its students.

The PRO obtains much of its news material from the Bullet so it is important to keep the editors informed of election results, club plans and future events. If you have any ideas, news items, pictures, humorous and human interest stories which the public would enjoy sharing, contact Mr. Brooks in George Washington 202 or discuss them with the editors.

Front—Joyce Mason, Margaret Gooch, Janet Andrews, Elizabeth Nalls, Jean Kimball, Diane Loares, Willie Parsons, Jane Bradfield, and Mrs. Jean Appel.
Absent—Connie Bennett, Anne Smith, Shirley Matzenger, and Beverly Turner.

Organ Group Is Established

Margaret Gooch, a junior, has been elected president of the student group of the American Guild of Organists, an organization newly established at Mary Washington under the sponsorship of the District of Columbia Chapter A. G. O. Beverly Patrick, also a junior, was made secretary of the group.

Mrs. Jean Slater Appel of Washington, D. C., faculty sponsor and instructor in organ, has been awarded two degrees from the Guild. One is as Choir Master; the other, as Associate of the A. G. O. She acted as Dean of the Washington Chapter from 1943 to 1945. The Canyon Press of New York is publishing an introit, "Noel," by Mrs. Appel this month.

The organization plans to present a weekly program in Monroe Hall. The first recital is to be by Elizabeth Nalls, a senior and member of the D. C. Chapter, on October 28 at 4 P. M.

Membership includes Janet Andrews, Constance Bennett, Jane Bradfield, Diane Farans, Joyce Glascott, Jean Kimball, Sue Mapp, Joyce Mason, Shirley Matzenger, Willie Dee arsons, Avee Anne Smith, Martha Smith, and Beverly Turner.
